Lavi Industries is a premier manufacturer of innovative public guidance systems. The company is headquartered in Valencia, California with additional facilities in Brewster, NY. Our continued growth and success has been achieved through the determination and talents of our dedicated employees.

Fabricator

Valencia, CA

We currently have an opening for a Fabricator in our Valencia plant. This candidate will perform a variety of complex but repetitive mechanical assembly operations through verbal and written work instructions such as assembly drawings and sketches. Our Fabricator will safely create parts and/or components by welding, cutting and brazing a variety of metals using gas and/or electric welding equipment.

This individual will need to rely on their imagination and creativity within the guidelines of the Bill of Material and Engineering drawings to fabricate parts for the Lavi Industries' product line while safely operating an assortment of small to medium hand tools such as screw guns, impact wrenches, drill presses, and punch presses.

Qualifications and Requirements

- Must have knowledge of the basic use of small power tools and hand tools.
- Must be mechanically inclined.
- High school education; and or equivalent combination of education and experience.

We offer the right candidate an opportunity to develop his/her full potential in an entrepreneurial environment, as well as an attractive compensation package.

Verifiable references and drug screen/background check are required.
